A FORMER Algonan, Douglas Cook, was cited for outstanding scholastic achievement recently at Georgia State University in Atlanta, GA, where he is a post-graduate student in bio-chemistry. He was honored during the university's Honors Day May 26 for his perfect grade of 4.00 during the past academic year. Cook has been selected to participate in a three-year grant awarded to Dr. Sidney Grant of GSU. The men will study marine micro-organisms which degrade into hydrocarbon compounds (oil). The research will take place in the North Sea and the tundras of Alaska. A graduate of Algona High School and State University of Iowa, Cook
